Upcoming Program

Steve Rose - Sandy Springs Police

Please join us December 17 to meet and listen to Lt. Rose.

Steve Rose began his law-enforcement career in 1976. After a short stint with Chamblee Police, he joined the Fulton County Police where he spent the next 26 years, working mostly out of the north precinct in Sandy Springs. He retired on February 9, 2006. The following day he began his new career with the new Sandy Springs Police as a lieutenant over the community affairs and media functions.

As part of the original half-dozen or so new Sandy Springs Police officers, Steve spent the weeks between February and July 1 helping put together the new department from scratch, including purchasing and outfitting just under ninety police cars, uniforms, equipment, and budget. The group interviewed hundreds of potential applicants and a thousand other things, pieces of the puzzle, to get the new department off the ground on July 1, 2006.

Lt. Rose spent nine year as the community affairs commander before moving to the south district command and later night command positions. He retired as a captain in late May, returning as a civilian to run the department's Volunteers in Police Services (VIPS) program where he remains today.

Steve is the author of "Why Do My Mystic Journeys Always Lead to the Waffle House?" a collection of "View from a Cop" columns he wrote for the AJC's Northside Edition for

Last Week at Rotary Life's Simple Seven

On December 3rd DOCTOR BASIL MARGOLIS presented the facts about heart disease.

"One person dies every minute from a heart attack in the United States." Doctor Margolis started his slide presentation with that message in large, starkly printed black letters on a white background for maximum contrast. To drive home this fact, he stated that during his 15 minute presentation 15 people in the US would die of some form of coronary heart disease.

His next slide stressed the fact that he wasn't just talking about men. He pointed out that heart disease is also the leading cause of death in women as well. In the same large stark lettering as before he writes that heart attacks are an Equal Opportunity Disease.

Dr. Margolis took time to explain each of the risk factors noted here:

- High Cholesterol
- Hypertension
- Cigarette Smoking
- Diabetes
- Obesity
- Sedentary Lifestyle
- Age
- Family History of Heart Disease

While any one of these factors is cause for concern, any multiple of these risk factors taken in combination exponentially elevates your chance of coronary heart disease.

Dr. Margolis wanted us all to be aware that the last two factors where the only unavoidable risk factors.

Several slides bore out evidence of the dangers of smoking to your health. In another slide he showed us a simple but dramatic difference exercise can make. He stressed that even a simple walk, 3 times a week for 45 minutes can decrease your risk of heart disease by half. HALF!

To sum up his presentation he left us with "Life's Simple Seven". His short and easy list of items to watch for could save you from a heart attack.

Life's Simple Seven:

- Weight
- Smoking Status
- Physical Activity
- Dietary Intake

- Blood Sugar
- Blood Pressure
- Cholesterol

This Week in Rotary

Chief Judge Wendy L. Hagenau, Brilliant on Civil Discourse

On December 10, The Rotary Club of Sandy Springs had the privilege of hearing from the honorable Judge Wendy L. Hagenau. Expecting her to share stories from her vast experience in handling thousands of bankruptcy cases, she instead gave an insightful and plain-spoken dissertation relating to civil discourse.

With quotes from Sandra Day O’Conner, Neil Gorsuch, General Patton, and Alexander Hamilton, Judge Hagenau kept us enthralled. She reminded us that it is acceptable to disagree, and it is our job to find a compromise. She noted that our U.S. Constitution is, in fact, a beautifully crafted compromise by our founding fathers.

As other helpful reminders, Judge Hagenau exhorted the following imperatives:

- Speak with civility.
- Avoid absolutes.
- Listen and understand.
- Stay on topic and avoid opinions concerning your opposition.
- Learn to distinguish between opinion and fact.
- It is most helpful when we can assume that the other person is trying to get at the truth.
- Communicate to learn and not to win.

With this notable statement, she impressed upon us that “Simply repeating: ‘I am right’ is not helpful and is not advancing the flow of information.” She went on to reiterate that, “The facts are really important, and it is incumbent upon us all to be able to separate opinions from facts.”

She recommended a perennial best-selling book called, “Getting to Yes” by William Ury and Roger Fisher. The two authors were members of the Harvard Negotiation Project where they focused on the psychology of negotiation in their method, “principled negotiation”, finding acceptable solutions by determining which needs are fixed and which are flexible for negotiators.

It was truly a pleasure to listen to her presentation. She reminded each of our responsibilities when encountering civil discourse.
